

The Collaboration Abides by The Following Principles

- Altruism To serve the needs of the global community concerned with immunization safety.
- Collaboration To work together effectively by promoting good internal and external communications through open decision making and teamwork.
- Worldwide Participation To promote global participation.
- Independence To keep the Brighton Collaboration scientifically independent.
- Multidisciplinary Approach To involve people of different skills and backgrounds, in order to benefit and build upon their contributions.
- Generalizability To minimize bias by adhering to a strict scientific approach, ensuring broad participation and avoiding conflicts of interest.
- Relevance To maintain Brighton documents up-to-date by identifying and incorporating the highest achievable quality of clinical evidence.
- Accessibility of Work To facilitate access to Brighton documents through strategic alliances and choice of media.
- Responsiveness To provide high quality information by being open and responsive to criticism.
- Continuity To maintain continuity of responsibility for Brighton documents and key functions.
- Accessibility To allow broad participation in the work of the Brighton Collaboration by minimizing obstacles to contributing and promoting diversity.
